Travel Heals. We Prescribe it Right

Thank You for Choosing Dr. Traveler

At Dr. Traveler, we believe every journey should heal, inspire, and change your perspective. We do not just plan trips – we craft transformational experiences that blend comfort, safety, and care. Thank you for trusting us to be part of your travel story. We wish you an extraordinary travel experience, filled with joy, discovery, and memories that last a lifetime. Wherever your next adventure takes you, may it continue to heal, inspire, and broaden your horizons.

TRAVEL & MEDICAL GUIDELINES (MUST READ)

- Acclimatization: Acclimatization is the process by which your body adjusts to higher altitudes and lower oxygen levels. Acclimatization is important because it helps prevent altitude sickness, which can cause headaches, dizziness, nausea, or fatigue. Move slowly at higher altitudes (Manali, Solang, Atal Tunnel, Sissu). Stay hydrated, avoid running/exertion, and allow the body to adjust. Students with asthma/heart/respiratory issues should consult a doctor before travel.
- Meals on Mountain Days: Lunch not included – When it is cold, your body directs more blood to vital organs to maintain core temperature, and away from the digestive system. This slows down how quickly your stomach breaks down food, meaning heavy meals sit longer in your gut. This can lead to nausea, bloating, or even vomiting, making you feel weak and uncomfortable during your adventure. Additionally, Carrying cooked food is discouraged because it cools quickly and unevenly, creating a temperature range where bacteria like Salmonella or E. coli can multiply, increasing the risk of food poisoning. Light snacks (dry fruits, energy bars, biscuits, water) are recommended.
- Weather Dependency: Mountain visits are subject to weather. Heavy snowfall or landslides may close roads; entry to Solang, Atal Tunnel, and Sissu will depend on safety clearance. Alternate local sightseeing will be arranged if needed.
- Medical Precautions: Carry your personal medicines. A basic first-aid kit will be available during the trip.
- Immediately inform faculty/organizers if you experience severe headache, dizziness, breathlessness, or unusual discomfort.
- You may take basic vitamins or supplements if you wish. Detailed recommendations are provided in your travel guide.
